"003" is not unique world-wide

"EH-003" could be unique world-wide

Computer generated from a central system - "1245-5454-5428-3665-4424-5442" could be unique world-wide (first group could be a Country identifier, following groups could be timestamps, etc.)

Although the Annex 15 requires that “published aeronautical geographical coordinates (indicating latitude and longitude) shall be expressed in terms of the WGS-84 geodetic reference datum”, the obstacle data published world-wide does not yet comply with this requirement. Therefore, for this model, it is still necessary to recognise the use of other datum.

2.2.9 Obstacle elevation - reference system

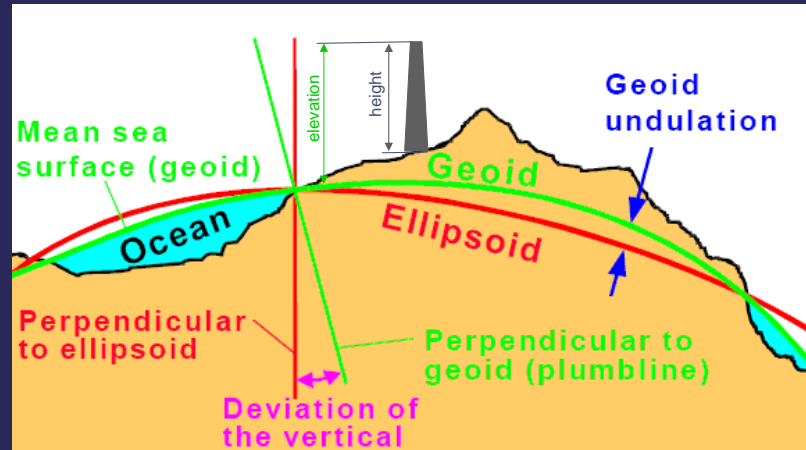

2.2.10 Obstacle height

2.2.11 Obstacle vertical - data quality
